Art Konotopskiy posted:

Arla was a wonderful, strong, and caring woman. I knew her to be a person who was quick to help and slow to judge - the kind of person who has always been rare in the world. She was always steadfast in the face of adversity and lived her life to the fullest, brightening the existence of everyone around her. Her passing was unexpected and she will be missed.

Arla was young for her years. I was surprised to see her age. She was a kind and caring friend to my mom. I will always remember that. We loved being in her company and will miss her terribly.
