I'm sure there is no need to tell the family that Rosemary was loved, but I would like to share a story. My children attended New Hope Day Care where Rosemary worked. My son, Nathan, at the time was just a toddler (he's now 26), and because of asthma he often did not feel well so Rosemary would cuddle him in her lap. The day care had taken a class photo, one day I discovered that Nathan had cut up his class photo. I was angry with him and questioned why he would do such a thing. My heart melted when he took me to his bedroom and showed me why he had cut the photo. He had cut Rosemary's picture out and had taped it on the headboard above his pillow. He wanted Rosemary to be near him while he slept. Rosemary knew how to love children and my children were blessed to have her in their lives during their early years.##imported-begin##Sue McCrimmon##imported-end##
