Ron and I were in "The Valiant" together and he also would swoop over on his motorcycle on Saturday morning and we would go to breakfast.Ron also took me to see the University Apartments in E. Lansing so I could see myself living there while I went to MSU. I don't know if I could have gone to the university if he had not take the fear out of that big step for me. They were special times.###imported-begin###Judy McLain###imported-end##

Dear Family I am sorry to hear of your loss. What helps me with the pain of losing a loved one is to look to Bible for comfort. To cry for a loved one that has died is a normal reaction, even Jesus shed tears when Lazarus died. The Bible urges us at Psalms 55:22 to "Throw your burden upon Jehovah himself, and he himself will sustain you". What a wonderful promise we have in the resurrection hope (John 5:28, 29), then we will see the scriptures fulfilled at Revelation 21:1-4. No more sickness or pain. I encourage you to keep praying and comforting one another. Love Joanne O'Malley##imported-begin##Joanne O'Malley##imported-end##
