I'm so sorry Lisa. I don't think there is anything that any of us can say to make the hurt go away. Just know that we are all here in prayer and thinking of you daily. You will see Kaylin again. She is preparing Heaven for you. She is probably picking out hers and your Harley's & ALL the Harley paraphernalia that you can imagine for your arrival. Until then - try to stay strong and lean on the people closest to you for comfort. Be thankful that you had her for that extra time in the hospital. Kaylin, we were super close our freshman year in high school. I remember all the note passing we did in Mr. Walters class and how all the students would get upset that we made them pass our notes back and fourth. If he didn't have to seat us across the room from each other we wouldn't have had a problem. We had so many great memories. For some reason freshman year we had the same taste in boys and that was the only thing we ever fought about. We were so young. You will always be in my heart. You have had a major impact on my life and for that I am forever thankful. I love you with all my heart. Those notes will always be with me.
