Mom suffered so many years with arthritis, COPD, osteoporosis, and finally lung cancer. Through all that she was still as active as her body would allow - she continued to walk under her own power until 2 days before her death. Always caring, Always loving - gonna miss her everyday. Thank you Dad for taking such good care of her even though it took everything you had - she knew you loved her and she appreciated everything you did. My brothers and I will carry her love with us everyday.
